Health and Beauty

Bathing

Health and beauty are so closely allied that the latter cannot exist without the former.

In ages past, certain religious sects regarded the body as a hindrance to grace. Physical ugliness was considered a virtue, while the cultivation of beauty was believed to be nothing short of sin.

Bathing was practically unknown among such fanatics, whose chief virtue consisted in mortifying the flesh. Such ideas are passing away among intellectual folks. They survive in certain classes of ascetics in India, and some other pagan cults. Un-attractiveness is no longer considered a virtue. In reality it is often a vice, and is certainly a great handicap.

Good health is the only foundation upon which to build beauty. There is an old saying that "cleanliness is next to Godliness," so we will begin with the bath.

It has not been 60 years since it was considered very dangerous even by educated persons in the United States, to bathe in the winter. There was a law passed against it in Boston, the people were prohibited from taking baths in that season. The bath houses in ancient Greece, and Rome were among the most sumptuous that the world has ever seen. Men remained a

NEWS from HOLLYWOOD

It will be good news to Martin and Lewis fans to hear that, after weeks of feuding, Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis have "agreed to continue on as America's highest paid comedy team."

Louis L'Amour is about to establish some sort of record due to the fact that three of his novels are due for simultaneous filming in the near future. Already in action at Warners is Richard Whorf's production of "The Burning Hills," with Jon Wayne. Columbia is shooting "Black Jack Ketchum," originally known as "Kilkenny." Mr. L'Amour is putting the finishing touches on the script of his "To Tame a Land," which Marlon Brando expects to activate in the next few weeks as his first independent production.

Twentieth-Century-Fox has bought "23 Baker Street," by English novelist Nigel Balchin. The title comes from the London address of Sherlock Holmes and the story is on the style of "Rear Window," and will be filmed entirely in England.

Scott Brady is just delighted that he has finally won his fight to get out of heavy parts, into more romantic roles. He liked his role with Jane Russell in "Gentlemen Marry Brunettes," and in his next film "Mohawk," he is an artist with three girls to romance.

Linda Cristal, who had a small part in "Vera Cruz," has been selected as Dana Andrews' leading lady in "Comanche." She is described as "half Gina Lollobrigida, and half Ursula Thiess."

Fess Parker, well known to the youngsters as "Davy Crockett," will step out of that role—temporarily, at least—to star in Walt Disney's new suspense story of Civil War espionage, "The Great Locomotive Chase," in Cinemascope and Technicolor. The picture, to be filmed entirely in north Georgia, tells the story of a daring attempt by Union soldiers to cripple the South's vital military transport system.

The casting problem for "Good Morning, Miss Dove," was a very difficult one. While Jenifer Jones, who plays the part of the schoolmarm, plays herself at three different ages, with the help of make-up, the other leading characters, such as Robert Stack, Biff Elliott, Jerry Paris and Kipp Hamilton, have to be shown as 6 year olds and also at twelve. This is not so easy.

"The Phenix City Story," makes Mickey Spillane look somewhat like a girl scout. It has four murders, 17 beatings, 6 bombings and 14 fist fights.

The Soviet Union has put a large corps of research acientists to work to increase that nation's agricultural output.

COMMENT ON SPORTS

By Pete Fritchie

BOXING

Washington.- This is a flyer on the September 20th heavyweight title tussle between champion Rocky Marciano and Able Archie Moore, vintage 39. The scrap promises to be one of the best in years and here is how it will turn out—We Think!

If the bout goes the limit, we pick Archie Moore to win it. If it ends by a knockout, we must string along with Marciano. What is the chance that it will end by a knock-out? A knockout ending is a good seventy-five per cent chance.

There are already indications that neither man expects the fight to go the limit. Archie Moore might get in there and mix it up at the bell, but more likely, he will want Rocky to come on — which Rocky will — and fight a counter-punching battle.

If Archie lands enough, as Rocky comes in, he could slow down the champion. He might then go the limit or even knock Rocky out in the late rounds. But the question is whether aged Archie can stay a dancer and prancer through fifteen stanzas.

Jersey Joe led the waltz for thirteen shuffles back a few years and had the fight won, but Rocky caught up with him. Can Archie, a lighter man, do better? Jersey Joe, it will be remembered, caught Rocky coming in, in that fight, and sat him on his pants, in an early round.

That slowed up the Buster for a while and almost won Joe the fight. That is how Archie would like to slow up Marciano, by stiff counter-punches in the early rounds. But Archie doesn't hit harder than Jersey Joe. Thus he will have to be smarter. And Joe was a smart ring man.

All in all, the chances are about 65-35 in favor of Marciano. Archie is the stiffest competition for the champion in a long while, and interest in the fight is great, especially since Moore had to advertise in the newspapers to finally land this fight. It brings back shades of the twenties, when Harry Wills, another threatening Negro could not get a Dempsey fight, though for years he sought it and deserved it.

CAMPBELL - SCOTT COUNTIES TO GET FISH PONDS

G. W .Buller, chief of the Fish Division of the Commission of Game and Inland Fisheries, says that as soon as the Commission receives the deeds for the sites selected and approved, it will advertise for bids to construct public fish ponds in Campbell and Scott Counties. Plans and specifications for the two ponds are being worked out by engineers in charge.

These will be the last two of eight ponds to be built under the last biennium budget. However, it is anticipated that with the cooperation of the General Assembly, sufficient outlay will be provided to continue this popular and worthwhile project of public fish pond work.

TO RECEIVE PROPOSALS FOR FISHING LAW CHANGES

The Commission of Game and Inland Fisheries will meet in the hearing room of the Commission offices, 7 North Second Street, Richmond at 9:30 A. M., October 7. The executive director, I. T. Quinn says that the Commission at that time will receive proposals for changes in the fishing regulations for next season.

Then Wayne tried reverse and stepped on the gas. The car zoomed into a utility pole, snapping the pole at its base.
